The pictures used on a coat of arms are a sort of code. The grid above tells you the meaning of some images.

Use the code to design your coat of arms. You might want to invent your own picture code too.

This coat of arms has a crown above a football. It tells us that the person is good at football. We can also see daisies which tell us that this is not a boastful person. They might be good at football, but they don't show off about it!
